

Hospital FOOD2GO Packaging

Food is a critical part of hospitals for patients, visitors and those who work there. While the food being offered is coming under more scrutiny, the packaging holding the food should also be carefully considered. Having convenient, suitable and aesthetically pleasing packaging can make all the difference to your customers.

At Bidfood, we have an array of packaging solutions to help fit your hospital's needs. Within this flyer we've outlined solutions by day part for ease.

With the rise in take out trends, an increase of packaging waste is inevitable. Currently, 51% of waste is recycled and the government is keen to improve on this number. We are working closely with our recyclable packaging partners to lessen your impact on the environment.

Breakfast

Breakfast is widely regarded as the most important meal of the day. However, during a stressful time, such as visiting someone or being in hospital, it can easily be overlooked. Having convenient food offerings can help ensure everyone is getting the right start to their day.

Cereal is an easy, go-to breakfast for many — with just over half of all consumers eating cereal for breakfast.

63% of adults who snack admit to doing so once a day or more.

61% of snacks purchased out-of-home last year were purchased as food-to-go. Snacks also accounted for a huge 56% of all food-to-go occasions.

With 95% of adults in the UK admitting to snacking, it is an almost universal habit.

Whilst at hospital, those visiting loved ones might feel like they don't have time to eat whole meals. Snacking is a potential solution for this—with 95% of adults in the UK admitting to snacking, it is an almost universal habit. There is an important opportunity for snack packaging to be improved to allow consumers more ease and convenience when out and about. With this in mind, we have a number of snack pots and containers suitable for a wide variety of items that will be easy to carry around and reseal.
