Consistently creating nutritious and delicious meals tailored to residents' individual requirements is challenging, especially when you are juggling time, budgets, stock levels and the skill level of your staff.

Caterers Campus is an online learning platform exclusive to Bidfood customers that takes the hard work out of supporting your team – so you have more time to focus on your residents.

How does it work?

Created using our expertise and working closely with our customers in the care sector, Caterers Campus is an easy to use online platform that will support your teams to learn in a way that works for them.

The bite size modules are fun, interactive and knowledge is checked on completion of each module. If it's not a pass, no problem you can take the module again!

Ready to help your teams learn?

Simply let us know how many of staff you would like to access the platform and who will be your company administrator, send us their email address and we will set everything up for you.
